

• CURRICULUM VITAE

Mikael Rørth

Born 13th May 1943.

Graduated University of Copenhagen, Medical School, 1967 (MD).

Employments

1967–1973 Research fellow at University of Copenhagen – working with experimental haematology (oxygen transport, red-cell metabolism).

1972 Research fellow at Boston University.

1973-1980 Clinical training in internal medicine, haematology and oncology.

1980- Head, Department of Oncology (medical oncology).

1993- Professor of clinical oncology at Copenhagen University.

Prizes of honor

“Fabrikant Ulrich Brinch and Marie Brinch’s legate” for extraordinary scientific achievements
1976

“Læge William Ottesen and wife’s gift of honor” 1988

Honorary award from the Danish Society of Cancer Research 1991

“Generalkonsul Ernts Carlsens prize of honor” 1999

“Onkologiprisen”, Danish Society of linical Oncology, 2005

“Lise and Gunnar Wærums prize”, 2011

Memberships of professional fora

Member of several advisory boards, nationally and internationally including chairmanships

Member of the Danish Council of Ethics 1995-1998

Chairman of the Thule Comittee of the Danish government 1995

Member of the executive committee of Danish Cancer Society 2001-2009

Member and chairman of several Danish, scientific associations.

Member and chairman of several research councils (University of Copenhagen, Rigshospitalet, the Danish Council for Independent Research – Medical Sciences, Lundbeckfoundation)

Member of the board of the Lundbeckfoundation from 2002, vicechairman 2010-11, chairman from 2011

Member of the board of UCSF from 1994

Publications

More than 250 scientific papers – mainly on topics of medical oncology (specific areas: Testicular cancer, late effects of chemotherapy, new drugs, cancer and physical training). 182 papers in Pub-Med. H-index 38.

Edited textbooks and proceedings.

Supervised five doctoral thesis and 10 PhD students.